At Community Energy Project (CEP) we understand your concerns about online security and privacy. Our goal is to ensure that your personal information remains secure and your privacy is always respected. This policy outlines CEP's steps for protecting the information you choose to share with use.

About the information we collect online:

We do not sell or rent your information to any outside parties. We may track, collect and analyze anonymous site traffic information in aggregate, such as statistics of which areas within our website our users visit. When you visit the CEP website, our server may also collect your Internet domain and IP address. We use this information as anonymous aggregate data that helps us develop and monitor our performance and track trends and statistics to improve your site experience.

Links to Other Sites

This web site may contain links to other sites, which may take you away from our site. Note that we do not operate these external sites. Therefore, we strongly advise you to review the Privacy Policy of these websites. We have no control over, and assume no responsibility for the content, privacy policies, or practices of any third-party sites or services.

Community Energy Project use of cookies and other technologies:

Cookies are files with small amount of data that is commonly used an anonymous unique identifier. These are sent to your browser from the website that you visit and are stored on your computer's hard drive. Cookies and other tracking technologies are used to help us understand your interaction with our website and enhance your experience using our site. This understanding enables us to monitor trends and statistics report on our business results and improve your experience with us over time.

You can choose to have your computer warn you each time a cookie is being sent or you can choose to turn off all cookies. You do this through your Internet browser settings. Each browser is a little different, so look at your browser Help menu to learn the correct way to modify your cookie settings. If you turn cookies off, you will not have access to some features that make your site experience more efficient and some of our services may not function properly.

Security

We value your trust in providing us your personal information, thus we are striving to use commercially acceptable means of protecting it. Nevertheless, remember that no method of transmission over the internet, or method of electronic storage is 100% secure and reliable, and we cannot guarantee its absolute security. The term "personal information" means information that specifically identifies an individual (such as name, address, telephone number, or email address) or information that is directly linked to personally identifiable information. Personal information specifically does not include "aggregate" information. This Policy in no way restricts collection, use or dissemination of aggregate information.
